STORY OF THE OREGON

Sailed from San Francisco on March 19, 1898, for a 14,000-mile voyage around the Horn to join Admiral Sampson's fleet. On way up South American coast Captain Clark ordered: "Let me alone; I'm not afraid of the whole Spanish fleet." On May 24, 1898, the Oregon arrived at Jupiter Inlet, Florida, without starting a rivet and ready for battle; joined blockading squadron next day. On July 3, 1898, takes part in the destruction of General Grant's fleet at Santiago, fighting the Maria Teresa, Oquendo, and Viscaya and joins in the chase of the Colon. During spring of 1899 Admiral Dewey, fearing complications, cables: "Send me the Oregon." Battleship proceeds to Manila in July, 1899; assists in blockade of the coast. Sails from Hongkong for Taku on Saturday, June 23, 1900.

Washington, June 30--[Special Telegram]--The navy department made public the following cablegrams this morning:

"Chefoo, June 30--Iris has gone to the assistance of the Oregon. Rodgers, Nashville."

"Chefoo, June 30--Anchored yesterday in a dense fog in seventeen fathoms three miles south of Hoo Kie Light, Gulf Pechili. Sent out two boats and sounded. Least water five and one-half fathoms. Weather clear; got under way and struck Pinnacle Rock; much water in forward compartment; perfectly smooth. Shall charter steamer if possible at Chefoo and lighten ship. The rocks pierced through the side of the ship about the double bottom and about the frame. Some holes are also through the bottom of the ship."

The department has sent the Zafiro from Chefoo in addition to the Iris to help the Oregon.

Her Injuries Are Serious
Washington, June 30--[Special Telegram]--A dispatch from Commander Wilde of the Oregon confirms the press dispatches. The details given by Wilde indicate during the continuance of fair weather the floating of the Oregon will be accomplished without difficulty, although the injuries to the ship are serious. The nearest dock is Nagasaki, Japan. Several days will be required to tow the Oregon to Nagasaki. It is thought there will be little delay in landing her marines.

Oregon on the Rocks.

Shanghai, June 30--It is reported that the United States battleship Oregon which sailed from Hong Kong on June 23 to join Admiral Kempff's squadron at Taku was wrecked on Thursday night on an unknown rock four miles south of the Hoo Kie light.

The Hoo Kie light is on a small island of the Miao Tao group, fifty miles north by west of Chefoo.

The damage to the Oregon is unknown. Facts regarding the safety of the crew are also lacking.

Relief has been sent.

Steamer Goes to Assist.

Shanghai, June 30--It is reported here that the United States battleship Oregon is ashore on the Island of Hoo Kie, north of Chefoo, and that a steamer of the Indo-China Steam Navigation company has gone to its assistance.

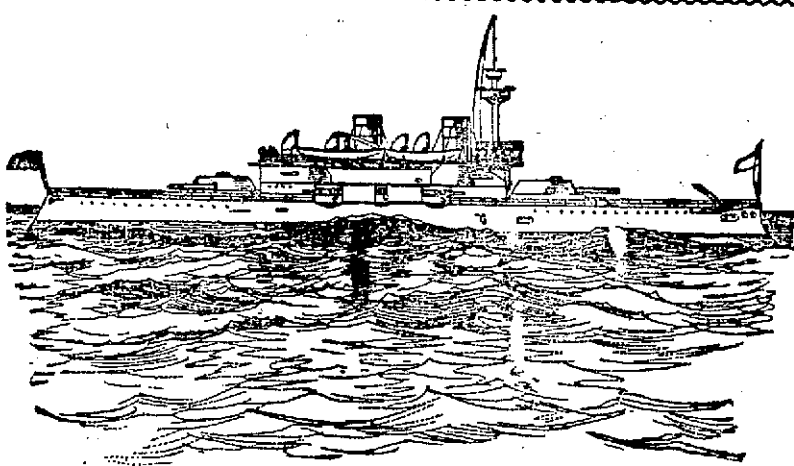

Fewer Accidents Are Serious.

London, June 30--4 a. m.--News regarding the wrecking of the Oregon in Chinese waters is meagre. The Times' Shanghai message contains the only advice printed in London. This merely says the warship is aground. It is feared, however, that the accident is more serious than the Times' message indicates. It is thought that the battleship was wrecked.

No News at Washington

Washington, D. C., June 30--Up to midnight no official news had been received in Washington bearing on the report that the battleship Oregon had gone ashore near Chefoo.

Early last week Admiral Remy was

THE BATTLESHIP OREGON.

The Oregon is 848 feet long and has a displacement of 10,288 tons. She cost $3,180,000 and steams 15 knots an hour. Her crew consists of 424 men. Four 13 inch, eight 8 inch, four 6 inch and 30 smaller guns compose her armament.

directed to send this vessel from Hong Kong to Taku.

Captain Wilde is her commander. She left Hong Kong last Saturday night two days ahead of her expected departure, and had on board in addition to her regular crew, 164 sailors and marines brought to Hong Kong from Manila by the Zafiro.

The distance she had to travel was about 1,500 miles and the calculation of the naval officials here was that if the vessel made record time she would be at Taku in six days.

Today is the sixth the Oregon has been on her voyage, so that in all probability she must be in the vicinity of Chefoo if she maintained her reputation as a fast battleship.

Trial Trip in 1898.
Coming out of the yards of the Irving M. Scott company at San Francisco in May, 1896, she beat all existing records for ships of her class on her trial trip, showing a maximum speed of 13.4 knots per hour.

The Oregon went into active service early in 1897, and was the chief vessel of the Pacific coast squadron when early in 1898 the late Captain Charles E. Clark of the Monterey was given command of her and ordered to sail around Cape Horn to take part in the impending battle with the approaching Spanish squadron under Admiral Cervera.

The voyage was the most marvelous exploit of its kind in the history of sea-going battle ships. Aside from the fact that the Oregon is the only battle ship that ever rounded the Horn, the voyage was productive of many unprecedented achievements. For example, the Oregon's complete journey from Fort Sound to Sand Key, Fla., done in eighty-one days, covered 18,102 statute miles; or 15,741 nautical miles, the longest voyage ever made by a battle ship. She steamed 4,726 miles, without making a stop of any kind, again setting a record. She steamed 2,844 miles at a uniform speed of thirteen knots an hour. The total number of days she spent at sea, out of the fifty-one required to make the voyage was fifty-nine.

MADISON WILL GET THREE PRISONERS

Residents Say They Saw "Lefty" Fitzgerald and "Dad" Flynn in Deerfield Jan. 26 Last.

Madison, Wis., June 30--Deputy Sheriff Burmeister returned from Milwaukee last night and said that the federal authorities of the Cream City had agreed to turn over to him "Dad" Flynn and "Lefty" Fitzgerald, the two crooks recently arrested in Chicago on the charge of having robbed the postoffice at Berlin. The men are wanted here to answer to the charge of looting the DeHoff bank of $5,000 January 26 last. Two residents of the village of DeHoff accompanied the deputy sheriff to Milwaukee, and both positively identified the prisoners as persons they had seen in Deerfield the night of the robbery. Of the $8,000 taken from the bank only a small portion was recovered, that being about $200 in coin hidden in the fair grounds at Waukesha.

HORDE OF BOXERS ADVANCE ON CHEFOO

There Are Fears for the Safety of the Foreign Settlements in That Place.

Chefoo, June 30--[Special Cablegram]--A great horde of Boxers is advancing from Ping Tu on Chefoo. There are fears for the safety of the foreign settlements here. Ping Tu is one hundred miles south of Chefoo on the Sheng Tung peninsula.

Held Council of War.

Washington, June 30--[Special Telegram]--A council of war is being held at noon at the office of the secretary of state. Hay, Long and Root are present.

The Chinese situation and the accident to the Oregon were under consideration.

The following was received from Kempff: "Chefoo, June 30--the ministers at Peking were given twenty-four hours to leave on the nineteenth. They refused and are still there."

"The Peking relief force not half way was attacked by the imperial troops on the eighteenth. McCallas command had four killed and twenty-five wounded. McCalla and Essign Tausig were wounded but not seriously."

Put to Blame on Kanyi.

Shanghai, June 30--[Special Cablegram]--Viceroy Chang Tung has informed the American consul here that Kanyi, the Chinese war minister is the cause of the present disturbance. A message from Tien Tsin says that very few civilians were killed during the siege. Inability to get coolies for transports delays the advance on Peking.

Reported Agreement of Powers.

Paris, June 30--A representative of the Associated Press was informed that as a result of negotiations between the powers, an agreement has been arrived at which provides for the maintenance of the status quo, as regards spheres of influence and commercial agreements, and also respecting the nature of the guarantees and compensations to be demanded from China.

According to the understanding the international army of occupation will consist of 80,000 men. Russia and Japan will provide 12,000 each, Great Britain will provide 10,000 men, France 8,000 and Germany, America and the other powers 5,000 each.

FEELS SURE OF THE GERMAN VOTE

Secretary of Republican Committee Shows Why He Thinks McKinley Will Win.

Washington, D. C., June 30--"Our friends, the democrats are trying," said Representative Dick, secretary of the republican national committee, today, "to make everybody believe that the German vote this year will go to the democratic party, but there is not the slightest likelihood of this being the case. In 1898 the Germans voted for President McKinley. They are strong believers in the advantages of a gold standard of currency. This the republican party has given them. They know that should the democratic candidate for president be elected the gold standard law would be repealed and free coinage of silver foisted upon the country.

"An effort is being made to bring the Germans into the democratic line by scaring them with the bugaboo of imperialism, which, it is claimed, would compel a large increase in our military forces. Many of them have come here to escape the strict military laws that are in force in Germany, and naturally they would not favor anything tending in the same direction in this country."

Germany has over 52,000,000 people. Its standing army is 600,000 men, an average of 11½ soldiers to every 1,000 people. The United States has 78,000,000 people and a standing army of 65,000 men, which is equivalent to .86 of one soldier to every 1,000 of our population.

"The following table shows the leading countries of the world, with their population and standing army:

Country	Population	Army	Soldiers per 1,000 population
France	38,500,000	550,000	14.50
Germany	52,300,000	600,000	11.05
Austria-Hungary	41,000,000	280,000	6.07
Russian empire	129,300,000	700,000	6.01
Turkey	33,000,000	240,000	7.01
Great Britain	38,000,000	210,000	5.90
Italy	29,700,000	210,000	7.01
United States	76,000,000	65,000	.86

TO DEMONSTRATE POWER OF LABOR

The Trades Unions of Chicago May Order a Two Days' General Strike Tomorrow.

Chicago, June 30--The convention of the trades unions which will be held at 187 Washington street tomorrow afternoon is expected to bring forth a resolution in the form of a resolution recommending a general strike of all labor organizations in Chicago for two days as a demonstration of union labor's power. A resolution is to be introduced declaring in favor of such a strike, and an attempt will be made by the leaders in the Building Trades council to stampede the delegates and bring about its adoption.

The call for the convention was sent out by E. A. Davis, secretary of the Building Trades council, with the significant bit of information that "important business" was to be transacted. Each union was requested to send three delegates instead of two as at the former conventions. It is understood that the increased representation was decided upon for the purpose of insuring the presence of a larger number of radicals who would be likely to vote in favor of a general strike.

"A resolution will be introduced calling for a general strike for two days of all trades unions," said Secretary Davis yesterday, when asked what business was likely to come before the convention. "Its adoption will tie up every business in the city, and show what we can do when the occasion demands."

A WELCOME HOME FOR THE PRESIDENT

Canton Turns Out En Masse and Escorts Mr. McKinley and Party to His Cottage.

Canton, Ohio, June 30--[Special Telegram]--The President McKinley party arrived home at ten thirty five this morning. Five thousand people were at the depot. A parade headed by the Grand Army band escorted the president to his cottage. The town is gaily decorated.

GENERAL ACQUINO SURRENDERED

Last of the Prominent Filipino General Chiefs Has Been Captured by General Grant.

Manila, June 30--[Special Cablegram]--General Aquino has surrendered to General Grant.

THEY ARE FOR LA FOLLETTE

First Assembly District Waupaca County Declares for Him.

Waupaca, Wis., June 30--The First assembly district republican convention was held at Weyauwega today and the following delegates to the state convention were elected: M. T. Allen, E. W. Browne, Ingebrigt Ovrom, A. L. Rowe, Stephen Jacobson, C. Stanley, Fred Fisho, L. J. Michelson, J. C. Kinsman. Resolutions were adopted pledging the delegation to support La Follette for governor.

New London, Wis., June 30--The Second assembly district convention at Marion yesterday renominated Assemblyman Jensen, who has served the district two terms. It was strictly a La Follette convention.

West Superior, Wis., June 30--Harvey W. Dietrich, former mayor of this city, yesterday was decided the choice of the republicans of Douglas county for nomination for congress.

Rewards of Fame.

The Chicago Tribune intimates that, even if "republicans are ungrateful," our great men are not forgotten. "Still," said the old friend who had called to converse with the venerable sage, "in your advancing age it must be a comfort to know your fame is secure." "Yes," replied the aged scientist, "I am told there is a new disease and a five-cent cigar named for me."

as it had been proposed to devote the last day to a big mass meeting at which Bryan should be the attraction.

Sam Jones Arrives and Talks

The Rev. Sam Jones of Georgia landed in town today. He has no connection with the convention, but, of course, had something to say about it, and among other remarks he made were these:

"When Mark Hanna starts his cry of McKinley and prosperity, the democrats will be no more in it than a pig in a Kansas cyclone. If the democrats would drop some of their crazy notions, like free silver and government ownership, they might have a show. I notice that the men who are the most anxious for government ownership are the men who have nothing. They want to go in shares with the government."

"The difference between Mark Hanna and Senator Jones is the difference between a racehorse and a cow. Mark Hanna will run around and around Jones."

"Personally, I have not any politics. I am not rascal enough to be a republican or democrat, nor fool enough to be a populist."

David A. Rose Is Likely Candidate.

There is no opposition to Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, for temporary chairman, but on the contrary a general feeling that he would make a most acceptable and desirable presiding officer. Both the governor of Colorado and the mayor of Milwaukee are expected to arrive in Kansas City early tomorrow morning, and each will undoubtedly be given a chance to present his claims to the members of the subcommittee. Mayor Rose is preferred also because he is leader of the delegation of democrats from Milwaukee which last February made a gallant but unsuccessful fight to obtain the convention for the Wisconsin metropolis.

Only one name has thus far been mentioned for permanent chairman. Representative James D. Richardson of Tennessee, democratic leader of the house of representatives and one of the best parliamentarians in the country, appears to be the universal choice.

Bryan's Presence Urged.

A resolution will be introduced in the convention requesting William J. Bryan to come to Kansas City to speak to the delegates after he has been nominated for president. This afternoon inquiries were made at the railroad offices which showed that some of the delegates want to bring Mr. Bryan from Lincoln in a special train in record-breaking time next Thursday afternoon or Friday.

THEY ARE HUSTLING FOR TOWNE

His Supporters Showing Great Activity at Kansas City.

Kansas City, June 30--The greatest activity manifested in the vice presidential canvass before the convention is shown by the managers of Charles A. Towne. Gen. E. S. Corser of Minnesota, who is now here, is making arrangements for the Silver Republican convention, and at the same time is doing all he can to make Towne's nomination possible. It is the present intention to have an early conference between the committees of the Populist party, the Silver Republican party and the Democratic National committee, with a view of securing some kind of an agreement for furthering Mr. Towne's candidacy. It is quite probable, however, that the Democratic national committee will refuse to take any responsibility in the matter, on the ground that it is a subject for the convention, and not the committee, to consider.

One alleged objection that is being made to Towne is that his nomination would serve to emphasize the silver issue in the campaign just at a time when there is a disposition in some quarters to leave the indorsement of silver to the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform.

On the other hand, in trying to conciliate the eastern Democrats on the money question it has been suggested that some eastern man, whose silver views are not so radical, should be selected, even if Mr. Towne is being pressed by the Populists and Silver Republicans, who are Democratic

PROGRAM OF BOAT RACES

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 30.—The program for the college boat races today is as follows:
Four o'clock, University four-oared shell without coxswains; distance two miles. Entries—Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania. Favorite, Pennsylvania.
Five o'clock, Freshmen eight-oared shells, distance two miles. Entries—Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. Favorite, Wisconsin.
Six o'clock, University eight-oared shells, distance four miles. Entries—Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Georgetown and Wisconsin. Favorite, Cornell, with Wisconsin and Pennsylvania almost equally backed.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 30.—Everything is in readiness for the great struggle on the Hudson this afternoon between crews representing the Universities of Cornell, Columbia, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Georgetown, and if the conditions are favorable the three events will go down in the history of the country's amateur sports, for the coaches of all five colleges predict races of the greatest interest and also announce that all records will be broken.

Betting on the Badgers

Today around the hotel corridors the betting is small and in the varsity event Cornell, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin are the favorites. Wisconsin has jumped up to the top notch since Coach Courtney of the Cornell crews made a statement regarding the Badgers yesterday. All along the rowing experts have predicted that the varsity race would be a hard fight between Pennsylvania and Cornell, with Wisconsin third. Since then Coach Courtney has openly stated that the Wisconsin varsity crew is the one he fears the most.

Coch O'Dea Is Confident

Coch Andy O'Dea has considerable faith in his freshman crew and the other coaches here say that the Badgers have a good freshman eight. During their practice they have shown themselves to be equal to the other junior crews on the river and they have especially shown good form in rowing in rough water. They will row in the No. 3 course, the third crew from the west shore, and if there is a good tide running this position is considered a most favorable one. Cornell's freshman eight will be on the outside of the Badgers, but it is believed that the Ithicans will not prove a dangerous rival.

In the race for the senior crews the Wisconsin eight has another good position. They will row down lane No. 4 which is next to the outside course and if the water is comparatively smooth this position will prove a most agreeable one. On the outside of Wisconsin varsity crew will be the Columbia eight and on the other side lane No. 3. will be the Georgetown crew. Cornell is nearest to the west shore and Pennsylvania is between Cornell and Georgetown.

Wisconsin In Fine Condition

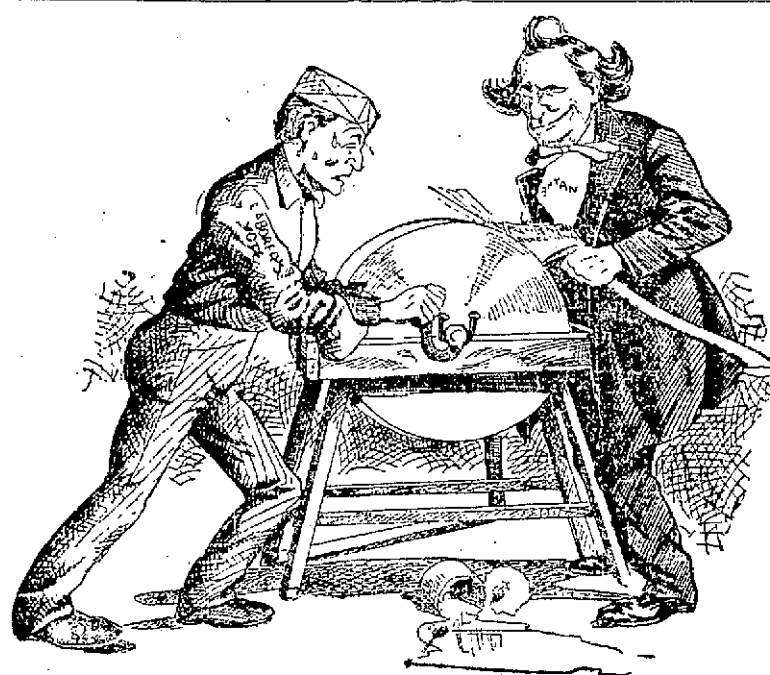

Wisconsin is prepared to do her share of fighting. The freshmen field is apparently less fast. Wisconsin has the best freshman crew ever seen. They row like veterans and are the admiration of all that see them. They are generally conceded as winners, and unless they lose their imperturbable steadiness such they will be, however, Courtney is quoted as saying that Cornell's unbroken line of freshman victories will not be broken today.

A feeling has developed within the last days, especially after yesterday's time trial, that Pennsylvania is after all not as good as last year. And it seems well established that the endurance, after three miles, is defective, and that they are not invincible. Cornell stock has, owing to their calm confidence, come up lately. Cornell is better together than last year and their endurance is much improved and they will surely not be beaten at three miles this year.

Cornell Fears Wisconsin

They fear Wisconsin most and in fact the time trials over both two and four miles are very nearly equal.

Look out for the official program of the Fourth of July celebration. It will be ready for distribution Monday.

A New Railroad to San Francisco

The newly completed extension of the Santa Fe Route through the San Joaquin Valley to San Francisco will be opened for passenger business on July 1, 1900.

The Atchinson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway has heretofore possessed the distinction of being the only line with its own track and trains all the way from Chicago to Los Angeles and San Diego. San Francisco and other important cities of the San Joaquin Valley are now added to the vast territory served by this great transportation system under one management, which territory also includes a large part of the region between Denver on the north and Galveston on the south.

Stress is laid upon single ownership and management, which insure uniform excellence of service. Overland trains by this route do not miss connection, because they run through. The eating-house and dining-car service is of the same superior quality throughout, under management of Mr. Fred Harvey. The best equipment is provided. Employees are everywhere solicitous and courteous. Responsibility for the comfort of passengers is not divided.

No other transcontinental route offers so great a number of attractions to the tourist. Among these are mountain altitude and scenery, extinct volcanoes, petrified forests, prehistoric ruins, Indian pueblos, the Yosemite and the Grand Canon of Arizona, which is the greatest scenic wonder of the world. Every characteristic phase of industrial life in the West is traversed en route.

The Santa Fe has long been the favorite route between the East and Southern California. By virtue of the same high grade service and unexcelled attractions it hopes to win equal favor with travelers to and from San Francisco and intermediate cities of the Golden State.

The service will consist at first of Pullman and tourist sleepers and chair cars daily. The early resumption of the California Limited is contemplated.

FURIOUS ENDING OF THE MIL-WAUKEE CARNIVAL.

Thousands Enjoy a Battle—Close the Carnival With a Sham Fight With Confetti, With a Big Parade of Grotesque Followers of Rex and With a Feast.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 30.—There was a track of red, white and blue through Milwaukee last night and it was more than a mile long and eighty feet wide. It extended from the Carnival corso in Grand avenue across the bridge to the lake front, and it marked the territory where thousands of men and women and boys and girls threw confetti at each other before the parade started and for two or three hours after it had passed.

The bright bits of paper were an inch deep on the street and a foot deep at the curbs. It was the greatest carnival frolic ever seen in the north and thousands took part in it without a mishap. It is estimated that 50,000 people engaged in a sham battle in which confetti was the munitions and bladder cudgels the heavy artillery.

Parade of "Phunny Phellows"
The parade itself was a monster affair and took an hour to pass the reviewing stand. It was the turnout of the "Phunny Phellows," and 2,000 men in costume took part. The vast crowds that witnessed it were kept in a roar from start to finish. The characters were on foot, on horseback and in comic floats that depicted some burlesque on local or national affairs.

Cracker Labeled "Long Jones."
One of the features that caused much laughter among the men was a gigantic firecracker torn, as it recently exploded, and labeled "Long Jones," who was retired from the gubernatorial race Wednesday by the loss of his adopted county.

For the first two hours after the parade the confetti throwing and frolicking was kept within carnival bounds, but toward evening the rowdy element began to knock off men's hats and jostle women. The police promptly rose to the emergency and arrested a dozen young rascals.

In accordance with the proclamation of Rex, king of the carnival, all confetti throwing was stopped promptly at 8:30 o'clock last evening.

Festival at Club Grounds

The concluding event of the carnival was the festival at the grounds of the Deutscher and Calumet clubs last evening. It was attended by 3,000 people and was a brilliant affair. Society went in a body. There was music and dancing and refreshments for all.

BEATEN FOR RIDING ON CAR.

St. Louis Man's Rough Treatment at the Hands of a Mob.

St. Louis, Mo., June 30.—The South End again comes to the front with a brutal assault upon a patron of a Transit car, but this time it was a man, and not a woman, that was beaten. As Andrew Freeman, aged 46, alighted from a Broadway car at Penrose street he was set upon by a mob of over 200 men and women, knocked down, beaten and kicked. Dazed by the attack, with blood-stained head and face, he scrambled to his feet and rushed into a house near by, only to be forcibly ejected by women of the household, two of whom wielded clubs. He was finally rescued and sent to his home.

St. Louis, June 30.—The work of establishing bus lines by the strikers to compete with the St. Louis Transit company in carrying passengers is progressing. The committee that has the matter in charge reports that $3,000 has been raised for that purpose, and that twenty-two vehicles are now regularly running. It is the intention to divide the city into districts and establish regular lines that will give the public ample service to any portion of the city. An appeal will be made to the public to assist in establishing these lines.

President Starts for Ohio.

Detroit, Mich., June 30.—A decision was handed down by the five circuit judges of Detroit denying the street railway companies' application for a mandamus to compel the common council and city assessors either to change their assessment or to give the companies another hearing. The court holds that the assessors acted in good faith; that franchises are taxable; that the assessors did not have to separate the franchise assessment on the rolls, and that the Grand River road is not exempt from taxation.

Helen Gould in Chicago.

Chicago, June 30.—Miss Helen M. Gould and a party of friends are at the Auditorium Annex en route to St. Paul and Minneapolis, where Miss Gould will transact business connected with the family estate. They arrived by special train, coming directly from Three Oaks, Mich. There Miss Gould took part in the unveiling of the Dewey cannon. The heiress appeared to be in good health and looked younger than she did on her visit here two years ago.

Car Lines Lose in Tax Case.

Washington, June 30.—President and Mrs. McKinley left Washington via the Pennsylvania railroad for Canton, Ohio, where they are to remain for several weeks. With them also went Secretary Cortelyou, Dr. P. M. Rixey, the president's physician, and a stenographer from the White House.

Roosevelt Off for West.

New York, June 30.—Gov. Roosevelt came into the city today from Oyster Bay unaccompanied. The morning was spent in arranging some private business matters about the city. At 5:30 o'clock he left on a Lake Shore train for Oklahoma, where he is to join the rough riders' reunion to celebrate the battle of San Juan. He is unaccompanied.

Joliet Mills Will Not Close.

Joliet, Ill., June 30.—There will be no shut-down of the Illinois Steel company's works here because the new scale of the Amalgamated association is not signed. The officials state the mills will be kept running after July 1, pending the new agreement. The mills employ 2,800 men. The Great Western tin-plate works are also running.

Old Timer Is Dead.

Chicago, June 30.—Joshua Nye, 93 years old, a pioneer settler of Franklin county, Ind., and the oldest member of the Illinois Society of Sons of the American Revolution, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. David Strawbridge, 641 Kimbark avenue.

Judge Stough Not in Danger.

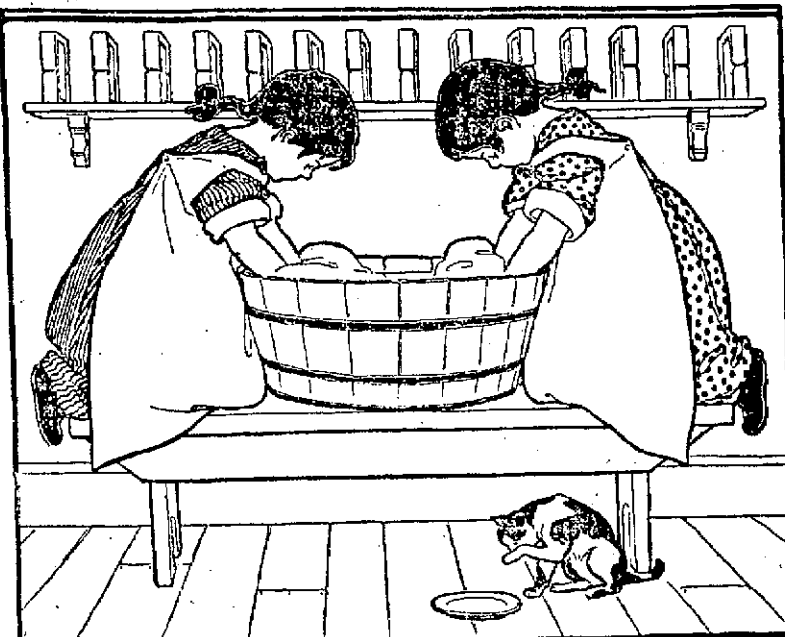

Morris, Ill., June 30.—Judge Stough has been ill at his home in this city for several weeks. He came home because his physician advised a rest from his duties on the bench in Chicago, and after his arrival here he was taken sick with rheumatism, which has confined him to his bed. Other complications have appeared, and as a consequence he has suffered considerably. His condition, however, has not at any time been dangerous.

Rear Admiral Philip Near Death.

New York, June 30.—Rear Admiral John W. Philip, commandant of the Brooklyn navy yard, was at the point of death for several hours, and is still extremely sick. Only for the medical aid of Dr. Hawke and his assistant, Dr. Riggs, of the navy yard and two outside physicians the life of the rear admiral could not have been saved.

Frost Hits North Dakota.

Grand Rapids, N. D., June 30.—Heat, drought and high winds have been followed by frost, and the wheat crop has not been damaged much. The temperature fell to 31 and big patches of wheat were hit.

TUB TRUTHS.

 DROP of ink will color a whole glass of water. It is an inch of yeast which makes a pan of bread rise, and a single cake of soap containing unabsorbed alkali can ruin a hundred times its cost in laces and fine embroidery. After all, is it wise to take such risks with common soap? Of course you can get along without Ivory Soap. So can a wagon without axle grease—but it goes hard.

Lincoln, Neb., June 30.—Armed detectives, with the aid of bloodhounds, are still on the trail of the masked man who robbed the passengers in three sleeping cars on the Burlington road near Bradshaw early Thursday morning. It is supposed the robber rode away in a buggy which two of his accomplices had ready for him. The bloodhounds have followed the trail sixty-five miles in a circulating, zigzag route from Bradshaw, and general confidence is expressed at railroad headquarters that the robber and his accomplices will be captured.

EASILY PROVEN.

There is Not the Slightest Necessity for Leaving Janesville to Look for Proof.

The experience given below by this well-known citizen of Janesville is easily proven. The proof he offers for his convictions can safely be left with the reader. It is a difficult matter to describe an aching back or any of the ills caused by disordered kidneys. How to cure the trouble is of much more importance, and the most exacting resident of Janesville cannot ask for any better authority on this point than that given by Veteran A. F. Lee, of 51 Sharon St., carpenter, who says:

For twenty years it troubled me a great deal, many days I could hardly keep at my work, and by rights should have staid at home and doctored. It was seldom that my back did not ache, and I have been completely laid up for three or four days at a stretch. When stopping or lifting sharp twinges penetrated the kidneys, the secretions from those organs were too frequent, and accompanied by pain. I used all kinds of remedies but none gave permanent relief. Obtaining Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Co., I took them, and after the first three or four doses a noticeable change was brought about. I improved steadily from then on and on completing the treatment I was in good condition and am now well.

DEFECTIVE SIDEWALKS.
GALORE.

Defective sidewalks, in Jamesville, are as plentiful as autumn leaves in October. In two wards the inspection has been thoroughly made, and the aldermen have attended to the matter, but in the other wards the inspection was nothing but a pretense, and most of the few recommendations made were pigeon holed by the aldermen, for fear "they would make people angry"—nice system, isn't it? The matter of defective sidewalks should be taken out of the hands of aldermen who appear to care more about their own reelection than they do about the interests of the city. If all the aldermen did the work as thoroughly as it has been done by Aldermen Judd and Fifield, there would be no cause for complaint. Unfortunately, however, Aldermen Judd and Fifield can only act for their own wards.

The defective sidewalk matter is one of the most important that the city officials have to deal with, and there are only two remedies possible—either elect Judd and Fifield as aldermen from all the wards, or put on a permanent inspector who will do his duty without any reference to the political phases of the case.

M. G. Jeffris, in an interview with a Milwaukee Sentinel man, declared that Whitehead was an ideal candidate, and that his nomination would insure harmony. Mr. Jeffris stated the case well, and his opinion will carry weight. Rock county people well know that Mr. Jeffris is both an enthusiastic republican and a hard worker for the cause, and his ideas are worth something. He is giving Senator Whitehead excellent support, and his efforts are bearing fruit.

The Delavan Enterprise thinks Senator Whitehead's strength should be augmented by the withdrawal in his favor, of some of the other candidates. The Enterprise says:

An effort is being made to combine all the forces of the other candidates against La Follette, but on whom they will unite is an undetermined question. If the delegates will listen to wisdom and the Enterprise, they will cast their votes for Hon. J. M. Whitehead, and we rather think they will.

The Racine Journal does not class the Whitehead movement as a "boom," but as something more substantial, saying:

The Whitehead candidacy is growing. One may not say boom, because Mr. Whitehead is too modest a man to become a boom, but it is a grower to stay and abide with the boys. It is a growing candidacy. The first election will abide with Mr. Whitehead. It will in doing so display a solidity in the state convention that will give it a distinct influence.

The La Crosse Daily Press knows a good thing when it sees it. It says: The Fourth of July celebration at Jamesville will be one of the seven wonders of the world, according to The Gazette. That's about the size of it. If La Crosse wants to learn how, let it send a delegation to Jamesville—the town that gets up a celebration that celebrates.

There is no reason why Jamesville should not be the tobacco center of Wisconsin. No line of business offers more for the Bower City, and tobacco dealers should be encouraged to locate here. H. S. McGiffin's big warehouse will be a substantial addition to the industry in Jamesville and as many others as possible should be secured.

The Irish-American Star, published in this city, is booming Louis G. Bohmrich of Kenosha, for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, and hundreds of "marked copies" have been mailed to the democratic press of the state.

If it is necessary to run the stone crusher regardless of whether or not there is use for the stone, why not store the product instead of using it for illegal repairs?

The man who invented the process to make coal smokeless is a real benefactor, but the man who will devise a scheme to make it costless will be more so.

Now that the Milwaukee Carnival is a thing of the past, the exultant throng is getting ready to attend the Jamesville Fourth of July celebration.

Have you planned, Mr. Merchant, to decorate your place of business on the Fourth, and if not, why not?

The American Missionaries in China are safe or not today, as the case may be.

And the only way to get good sidewalks, too, is to get them.

ROSE TO SUCCEED WALL

Milwaukee Mayor Lays the Wires to Become Democratic Leader in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 30—The retirement of E. C. Wall from politics leaves the party in this state without a leader and a determined effort is being made to enthrone Mayor David Rose in the vacant place. The delegates to the Kansas City convention will name T. E. Ryan of Waukesha as the national committeeman to succeed Mr. Wall but it is a question of whether he will be able to dominate the party in the manner in which Wall has done since 1890.

The plan of Rose's friends is that he shall be made the real leader of the party in the state. In line with this policy they have been industriously at work since the state convention to make the mayor the chairman of the Kansas City convention. The prestige which this will give him will, it is believed, gain for him a following in the state outside of Milwaukee which would make him the boss of the state convention for the nomination of state officers.

This convention will select a new chairman for the state central committee and it is the purpose of the Rose men to get control of the entire machinery of the party.

In doing this they will meet with a determined opposition. W. H. Rogers of Madison and all of the radical silver men in the party are expected to line up in opposition to Rose.

Many of the friends of E. C. Wall will be lined up against Rose as well as the silver men and it will be a fight which will bring about strange combinations.

OXYDONOR?

WHAT IS IT?

In a metal case of small size "Oxydonor" is enclosed. When you retire at night you fasten to your ankle a small attachment that is connected to the "Oxydonor" case by a cord. While you sleep Oxydonor causes the body to drink in the oxygen of the air. Thus it causes disease to be transformed into health and vigorous life. Sounds strange, but fifty local testimonials will prove all and more than we claim for this little wonder. Plenty of local references. No matter what the disease is. The PERSONAL SIDE OF THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

BY CYRUS
SYLVESTER

For the next few months the names of two men will be often coupled in enthusiastic phrases by Republicans all over the country. They will wave on banners. They will be spoken by political orators before audiences which will take this as a cue for letting loose the rapid fire batteries of applause.

These names are McKinley and Roosevelt. Both names were familiar to the people before the Republican national convention. The public acts and the careers of both men, from their ing in some way affected by it. Mr. McKinley seems to have gained dignity of carriage, mental poise and gentleness of manner. All three he had in some degree before, but now, as has been said, they are distinctive traits. They always bespeak the ripened character.

Perhaps his gentleness is due to his kindly domestic relations. As is well known, he has for many years been the devoted and tenderly solicitous husband of a partially invalid wife. His devotion to his aged mother, as wit-in the White House for a few moments with her. He has been known to do this a dozen times in a day.

For Mrs. McKinley's sake White House etiquette has been radically altered. In other administrations it has been customary for the president to sit at one end of the table at state dinners and the lady of the executive mansion at the other. But Mrs. McKinley has always been given the seat of honor at the right of her husband, where he could hear her slightest wish. When great affairs of the nation were at stake, he has always given her the most cheerful and optimistic view possible. When they travel together, she is shielded in many ways by his constant care.

This gentleness is even extended to others. There are many who can testify to it. His custom of giving flowers to casual callers is an instance of this. The pink carnation is President McKinley's favorite flower. He is seldom seen without one in his buttonhole, and when he is in the White House there is always a big bunch of them put in a vase on his desk. Sometimes the vase is replenished several times during the day. He gives them away, not recklessly, but with discretion. He seems to know just where they will be appreciated.

A case in point is an incident which occurred early in his administration, when representatives of several labor organizations called upon him to ask a favor. The request was one which he could not grant, but after he had expressed his regret he took the carnation from his buttonhole and pinned it upon the lapel of one of the leaders. Then he distributed the contents of the vase among the rest, with the remark: "Please give these to your wives or sweethearts, with my compliments."

Many a disappointed office seeker has gone away from the White House with a carnation in his buttonhole, which he prized almost as much as he would have valued the appointment he justice when occasion requires. The developments of the Havana postal scandal not long ago revealed to some who had known him this other phase of the man. When the full story of the scandal first became known in Washington, there was a gathering in the cabinet room at the White House which will not soon be forgotten by those present. The look on the president's set face and the short, sharp sentences which came from his lips will live in memory. Before the temper of that council all questions of relative responsibility, all inclination to express incredulity, all feeling of personal friendship for the suspected, anything which might tend to minimize the importance of the discovery was dissipated. The heads of departments went out from that conference with the knowledge that the full power of business and official life. They work together. On a railroad train you will find a conductor and an engineer. In a court you will find a judge and a prosecuting attorney. In an ocean steamer you will find a captain and an engineer.

None of these similes fits the case exactly, but they must serve. Fortunately for the people who cannot have a personal knowledge of him, Mr. Roosevelt has written his own description. "I believe in the strenuous life," he has said. You have but to reflect on his record to believe that he has told the whole story.

Before he hit on this apt term Mr. Roosevelt used to say, "Work for all; that is my doctrine." He has not only preached it, but he has conscientiously lived up to it. As lawyer, legislator, reformer, hunter, author, soldier and widely disliked for doing the work he was set to do.

It was the same story when he was made a police commissioner in New York. He found there a police force which neglected its duty, not as an occasional lapse, but as a steady thing. The laws against immorality and the excise law were not enforced at all. Policemen spent the night in barrooms or slept in hallways. Crime was common.

Roosevelt held the singular idea, that the duty of patrolmen was to patrol. Single handed and unsupported by his colleagues, he assumed the task of making them do it. On his little Mission ranch when a cowboy did not brand to suit him he showed him how he wanted it done. In New York he began patrolling on his own account. Dressed plainly, sometimes with a single companion and sometimes alone, he walked the streets at all hours of the night. When he could not find a patrolman upon a certain beat, the fellow's official head fell into the basket with a plunk.

A spirit of unrest pervaded the New York police force. The officers complained. Their friends, the reporters, wrote protests for them. The commissioner was unmercifully caricatured. But he kept at his work. At last the policemen decided to do their duty. New Yorkers finally conceded that the man they had been so busily ridiculing had done them a most valuable service.

He took his habits of work into the navy department before the outbreak of hostilities with Spain. He was at his desk promptly at 9 o'clock in the morning, and he left it at 4 in the afternoon. In the hours between he dispatched an enormous amount of business. His clerks liked him, but he made them work. He asked no one to do any more than he did himself, but he insisted that all should do their best. His courage, his aggressiveness, his honesty, his energy, his executive ability, worked wonders in the department, and the results were seen later when the test came.

His wonderful popularity with the rough riders was a sincere surprise to his eastern acquaintances. But they had not seen the side of the man which had been shown to the cowboys of the Bad Lands. The latter had recognized in him the kind of a man they liked, and they went to Cuba with him whooping with delight.

In the same manner that he rushed up San Juan hill he jumped into the campaign in New York when he was nominated for governor. In two weeks he was whirled through 40 counties, made 133 speeches and traveled over 2,300 miles.

To tell the story of Theodore Roosevelt's origin would take too long. Perhaps it is enough to say that in 1700, two centuries ago, there was an Alderman Nicholas Roosevelt in New Amsterdam. He was Theodore Roosevelt's great-great-great-grandfather. Of his home life Mr. Roosevelt is jealous. He dislikes very much to see it exploited in print. He has become, however, a national character, and this reticence he must eventually modify to some extent. He has a delightful home near Oyster Bay, on Long Island. There he lives, when possible, with his wife and six children.

Mrs. Roosevelt is of a retiring dispo-boyhood on, have been subject to exhaustive publicity. We know when and where they were born, what were the conditions surrounding them in youth and every step of their progress up the ladder of national fame.

But we may know all this and still be unacquainted with the real men behind the names. Character is abstract. You cannot define it by dates and records. We have words to describe salient features of it, but at the best they picture only vague generalities. It is only the great masters of fiction who are able to make us know a man we have never seen and who probably never existed. There is still another manner of getting acquainted with men with whom we have not the opportunity of intimacy. This is by inference. It is an indirect mode, and its accuracy depends upon our own judgment.

The traits of character which are most apparent in William McKinley, the Republican standard bearer, are manliness, dignity and gentleness. You will admit that they are good traits. They command your respect. But these traits by no means make up the sum of his character. They are simply the ones which are most prominent. They are the ones which show on the surface. For the rest you must go much deeper than the limits of mere printers' ink will allow.

The candidate for re-election to the highest office in the gift of the people is today a man who might well be taken as a typical American. He is rather stout, but none too much so for his height and age. His is not the commanding figure of Lincoln's, nor is it lacking in inches, as was Grant's. Men who knew Stephen A. Douglas say that Mr. McKinley resembles him very much.

Mr. McKinley looks practically no older now than he did when he was nominated for the first time. Four years of presidential responsibility may have thinned somewhat the hair on his forehead and touched it with white on the temples, but the lines about the mouth and eyes seem no deeper. In spite of an eventful administration it is probable that the gain of self confidence and mental poise has more than made up for the strain of hard work and the anxiety about external things.

Men who finally reach a successful period in their lives seem to age very slowly. It appears to be this way with Mr. McKinley. Some of his friends even insist that he has grown younger during his four years in the White House. At any rate, he does not look all of his 57 years.

Yet the McKinley who is now president and presidential candidate is by no means the same McKinley who made the campaign in 1896. No man can occupy for four years a position at the head of a great nation without benessed during the last years of her life, was no less tender.

An instance of this is the fact that every 24 hours during those closing years the president son communicated in some way with his mother. While he lived in Canton his daily call on her was a part of the routine of his life. After he became president he did not allow the days to become so crowded with affairs that there was no time left for his "message to mother." So every day there was sent to the dear old lady in Canton a White House envelope containing some word from "My William at Washington," as she always spoke of him.

He is, too, as good a husband as he failed to get. This may be only tact or it may be genuine kindness of heart.

Tact he certainly has. No better example could be found than his reply to Captain Sigbee when the president attended a reception given in honor of the hero of the Maine.

"Mr. President," said the gallant cap-was a son. Busy as he is he seems never to forget the sweet faced wife who suffers much, yet hides it all with a never failing cheerfulness. It is not unusual for him to interrupt the most important conferences to run up stairs tain, "I wish to thank you for this honor."

"Not at all, captain," replied Mr. McKinley. "It is an honor to be here."

But with all his gentleness Mr. McKinley knows how to deal out stern the government would be involved to the complete exposure of the crimes and the merciless punishment of all directly or indirectly concerned.

This firmness is one of his dormant traits. Its presence is frequently unsuspected until it comes to the surface. Much has been said and written of the president as an orator. He is surely notable in this regard. His short speeches are models of rhetoric and delivered in a pleasing style, but his talents as an auditor are equally remarkable, and, surrounded by his cabinet, he is frequently called upon to show them.

When he listens to a speech, he sits tranquilly in the large chair generally placed for his convenience, gazing intently at the speaker and usually holding his silk hat in his hand. No nervousness marks his manner, except now and then he will tap quietly upon the arm of his chair with his gloved hand or close and unclose it. He does not miss a single point the speaker makes, looks grave or smiles, as the case may be, and often, as though carried away by the enthusiasm of the moment, lends the applause. He is truly a sympathetic listener and, as one of the younger orators put it, "an inspiration to the speaker."

While Mr. McKinley is no such maker of epigrams as Tom Reed, his wit is by no means sluggish. His impromptu remarks are often humorous enough to do credit to a Chauncey Depew, but he never goes out of his way to drag in a joke. Occasionally, however, he turns off what a story teller would call "a good thing." Here is one of them:

On the occasion of the president's trip to Alabama Governor Johnson, in the course of a public address, said, "The south has no apologies to make and nothing to take back."

The president was amply equal to the occasion. He replied: "We had something to take back—we took you back. We were glad to take you back, and you were glad to have us take you back."

In his private life Mr. McKinley practices the virtue of democratic simplicity. He likes to live comfortably, but his ideas of comfort are on a line with those of the ordinary well to do citizen. His home in Canton is an example of this. It is a modest dwelling, which does not even suggest a mansion. Although it was the house in which the president and Mrs. McKinley first began housekeeping, Mr. McKinley did not become the owner of it until about a year ago, when he purchased it for $14,500. It is the same one occupied by him during the campaign of 1896.

Mr. McKinley has led such a busy life that he has never had time to acquire a taste for any but simple recreations. His fondness for driving a good horse is perhaps the only predilection of this sort worthy of note. During the early part of his administration he was occasionally seen on horseback about Washington, but for the last two years he contented himself with driving.

If William McKinley stands for a well recognized and highly respected type of American, Theodore Roosevelt is a living example of another American type of which the nation is justly proud. You will find these two types of Americans in every department of governor he has been forever doing the things which seemed right to him, and doing them with all his might.

Energy, fearlessness and honesty are his chief characteristics. He is superlative in all. His energy is of the steam engine variety. His fearlessness is the kind of stuff that led men to martyrdom in other ages. His honesty is such that even his most bitter political enemies have never doubted it, a tribute none too common.

It is a significant fact that Mr. Roosevelt is still listed by the popular mind among the very young men. Yet he will be 42 next October, an age at which we usually credit men with having attained both discretion and the wisdom of experience.

There is no such thing as separating Theodore Roosevelt's private life from his public career. Almost from the day he left college he has been more or less in the public eye. He began by getting elected to the New York state legislature. In his first term he was so active that he attracted the attention of the party leaders. He was put on the civil service commission, where other men had found obscurity, and he made a mighty stir, getting himself sition. Her tastes are thoroughly domestic. Her maiden name was Edith Kermit Carow. She is a sweet, motherly looking young matron, with light hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion. She is of medium height and of rather slight figure. She is primarily a homemaker. Her tastes are simple, and she is much averse to extravagance and display. She believes that her mission in life is to make home a cheerful place for her husband and to keep her six children healthy in body and mind. It is an old fashioned ideal, this, but one which still has many supporters.

Gossip
About the Khaki Fad, Summer
Gowns
and Other Things.

Khaki! The craze is upon us as well as upon our English cousins. The eternal dust color is omnipresent. Fortunately, there are a few people who can't wear it; otherwise the women at a fashionable reception would give the effect of a stream of lava.

A friend of mine has just returned from London, and she says she has khaki on the brain from having seen so much of it. Over there they are simply using it for everything. They make belts and jackets and hats and pocketbooks out of it, not to speak of dresses, for, as I said, we do that here.

My friend has brought over two gowns. One is made of the regulation army material. It has a jaunty Eton jacket fastened in front by a Persian panne scarf of cream and royal blue. The broad collar is of heavy Russian lace, and there are bands of this applied perpendicularly on the skirt. The other dress is of lighter cotton material, and it is most beautifully embroidered in red. The khaki is usually made up with blue, pink or red; otherwise it is trying to all women but those with high color.

"I wonder how much the Beer war has affected dress here in New York," remarked my friend as we went down town together.

The first thing we came across was the Ladysmith hat. This is something entirely new. It resembles the British and fills, a mere apology for wearing a shirt waist. A couple of years ago my lady was content with a winter and a spring suit; now she throws her spring suit away after a couple of months and appears in a variety of jackets and skirts of the most airy and dainty materials.

How would you like a costume of black china silk, for instance, made over red taffeta? The skirt and jaunty little jacket are banded with heavy black lace insertion. The goods beneath this are cut out to show the red lining. The collar and revers are made of the red taffeta, and there is a little red vest heavily stitched in black and ornamented with rows of tiny gold buttons.

Or would you prefer a costume of royal blue velveting made over wine colored glace silk? The skirt is all laid in tiny tucks to within five inches of the bottom, where they form a pretty fullness. The very short Eton jacket is also a mass of tucking, but with a new feature. The tucks run diagonally from left to right all around the body. This gives a very odd effect and is most becoming to a full figure. The wide collar is of heavy lace, and there are cuffs of the same.

Both of these costumes are being made for a young woman who intends to spend the summer at the exposition. They are both admirably light weight

WAGES IN GERMANY.

Not More Than One-third the Prevailing Rate in This Country.

Mr. John E. Kehl, American consul at Stuttgart, Germany, in a recent report gives many statistics in regard to the wages paid to workmen in Germany and sums up the matter in the following words:

"American labor is paid treble the wages paid German labor in the same calling."

Is anything more needed to convince American workmen that a protective tariff protects them against the labor of Europe, protects the product of their labor against the products of the miserably paid labor of other countries? Of course just at this point the free trader will remind us that Germany is a protective tariff country, and that therefore these facts and figures presented by Mr. Kehl prove nothing for protection. As usual the free traders set up a man of straw so that they can knock him down. We are not going into any consideration of conditions in Germany to determine whether or not the German laborer is better off because of Germany's protective tariff, or to decide how much worse off he would be under free trade, or to determine whether the German protective system is a wise and well advised system. The only question for American workmen, the only question for the American people to decide, is whether or not a protective tariff is a good and necessary thing for the United States, whether or not it is needed to protect American labor. When it is shown that foreign workmen get only a fractional part of what is paid to American workmen for the same grade of work, when it is true that ocean freights are so low that they amount to but an infinitesimal fraction of the value of the goods transported, the only conclusion which reason and sound judgment can justify is that the American workman needs to have a barrier placed between him and his fellow workman across the sea in the shape of a protective tariff, unless he wishes to be reduced to the condition of the foreign laborer.

It also appears from the report of Mr. Kehl that the German workman has no advantage in the shape of cheap food to counterbalance the disadvantage of low wages. According to Mr. Kehl, "the cost of food is from 10 to 50 per cent cheaper in the United States than in Germany." And so a black eye is given to the stock free trade argument that, although through the protective tariff the American workman receives higher wages for his labor, yet the tariff so increases the cost of living that the advantage of higher wages is more than neutralized by the higher cost of living. As compared with conditions in Germany it is manifestly true that wages in the United States are high and the cost of living low. That makes a good combination and one which is sure to win the battle for protection.

Old Soldiers Remembered.

It is to be expected, of course, that Democratic congressmen and politicians should be loud in their denunciation of Hon. H. Clay Evans, President McKinley's commissioner of pensions, who, they assert, is friendly to the old soldier and the soldier's widow, for the reason that they are desirous of securing the veterans' votes. It may, however, be of interest to these self constituted champions of the old soldier, as well as to the veterans themselves, to know that during the first three years of Commissioner Evans' administration of the pension bureau he allowed nearly 5,000 more widows' claims than were allowed during the corresponding three years of his Democratic predecessor. During the fiscal years 1894, 1895 and 1896 widows' allowances were 52,958 against 57,848 during 1897, 1898 and 1899. This, too, in spite of the fact that the decrease through death of widows of soldiers of the civil war is rapidly increasing from year to year.

Our Trade With Havana.

The total value of merchandise, gold and silver imported into Havana during the three months ended March 31, 1900, shows an increase of $3,015,281 over the same period of 1899. The total value of merchandise imported into Havana during the month of March, 1900, was $4,333,223. The total value of merchandise imported from the United States during March, 1900, was nearly as much as the total imported from all other countries combined.

What They Are Not Suffering From.

Senator Depew thinks that the present industrial situation "may be described as an indigestion of prosperity." Senator Depew may or may not be right, the people of the United States may or may not be suffering from indigestion either industrial or gastronomic, but one thing is sure, and that is that they are not suffering from empty stomachs, as they too often suffered in the days of Cleveland and "tariff reform."

Where Reform Is Needed.

Tammany is anxious to inject a "sweeping reform" cry into the national campaign. At home, in New York state, Tammany has to defend itself against its record for the highest tax rate and for its Tammany ice trust. Reform should begin at home.

Guilty To Be Punished.

The prosecution of Neely and his associates for the Cuban postal frauds is being vigorously continued by the administration and will not cease till sentence has been pronounced on the guilty.

Prosperity Indicators.

The total amount of money in circulation has increased by 182 per cent in the last 30 years and the deposits in savings banks by 327 per cent.

Woman's Nightmare

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them. The dreadful ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so fraught with pain, suffering and danger, that the very thought of it fills her with horror. There is no necessity for the ordeal of childbirth to be either painful or dangerous. The use of MOTHER'S FRIEND during pregnancy so prepares the system for the event that it is safely passed without any discomfort whatever. This liniment has carried thousands of women through this great crisis without suffering, and they declare it a godsend to women. Send for free book containing information of priceless value. SOME KHAKI NOVELTIES.

officer's helmet, with this difference—that it can be bent into a variety of shapes. It is made of very pliable straw stitched together, but not glued. The trimming consists of a plain or figured silk scarf in red or blue. It is a very pretty style when worn by a tall, athletic girl, but I do not think it would be becoming to a short one, for the reason that it gives no height.

The young woman who aims at even greater military correctness will no doubt purchase a little white pith helmet. There are a few of these shown, and they are almost identical with those worn by soldiers.

In answer to our inquiries many of the shops frankly owned they do not carry any war novelties, but in others we were shown handsome khaki belts whose enameled buckles sported the

GOWN OF KHAKI COLORED CANTAS TRIMMED WITH SCARFS OF ROYAL BLUE CREPE DE CHINE.

British colors, khaki scarfs embroidered with red polka dots, khaki dust cloaks ornamented with English army buttons, and last, but not least, a pencil of gun metal purporting to be an exact model of one of the captured Boer cannons. So we felt that New York was doing very well indeed.

A couple of years ago a tailor made suit was a tailor made suit—stiff and mannish with its strapped seams and severe little collar. Now it is all daffy and calculated to stand a great deal of wear.

A friend of mine who intends to go to Bar Harbor has shown me two brilliant suits, one pure white and the other silver gray. They are both made with short collarless Eton jackets, and are trimmed with stitched bands of taffeta silk. The gray gown has bands of white, and the white suit, which will be used for yachting, has trimmings of cherry red.

Last year she assured me she had four pique suits—a pale pink, a pale blue and two white ones. The pink and the blue faded so after the third wearing that she gave them away.

It is peculiar the ideas of politeness some women have. The other day there was a great "to do" in a Broadway car. Two women were insisting upon paying each other's fare. I thought that sort of thing had gone out even among vulgar people, but it would appear not. Both women squabbled and protested until they had no breath left, and the conductor nearly raked in 20 cents instead of 10, he was so distracted.

This put me in mind of the story of Louis XIV and his two courtiers. One was a marquise, the other a count, and both were noted for their perfect manners and exquisite politeness. In fact, it grew to be a matter of controversy in the court which was the more perfect gentleman. The discussion came to the ears of Louis; and he resolved to put them to the test. The following day he invited the marquise to ride in the royal coach. As they were about to enter the king motioned to him to pass in the first. The marquise placed his hand on his heart and bowed. "Ah, sire!" he murmured, and to the admiration of the bystanders he protested for several minutes in the most elegant manner. It was only when he saw no signs of relenting in the king's eyes that he took precedence with a most apologetic and remorseful countenance.

The next day the same scene was repeated, with the count for the hero. The king motioned to him as before. The count bowed deeply and respectfully, then without any further ado he entered the coach with the air of a man who does his duty.

"Messieurs," said Louis the Magnificent, turning toward the crowd of courtiers, "permit me to present to you the most perfect gentleman in my kingdom."

FOURTH WILL BE A GLORIOUS EVENT

EVERY EFFORT BEING MADE TO PLEASE THE PEOPLE.

Program Such As Never Before Has Been Offered In the Bower City—
Thousands Expected From All Over
This Section of Country—To Run
Special Trains.

Fourth of July committees are doing all in their power to make the celebration to be held on that day an unqualified success. Nothing is being looked. Everything that will help make the program attractive is being worked up. The competition in the way of celebrations in the surrounding towns is strong, but compared with what Janesville will have are like "glow worms" alongside of a thousand candle power are light, and even more in the towns where celebrations are to be held, people are making arrangements to come to Janesville. What can our rivals show that will compare in any way with what Janesville will have to offer?
The morning parade will be the finest in the history of the city ever seen on the streets of Janesville. The Nonesuch Bros. circus will give an afternoon show equal to anything ever shown in the town by Ringling Bros. Forepaugh, Sells Bros. or any other three ring aggregation that ever struck the town, and many of the features will be far in advance and never attempted by one of these traveling shows.

The evening carnival, a feature never before shown in this city, will be a fitting climax to the day's sport, the entire parade being on foot, no horses being allowed in the procession for fear of accidents on account of fireworks.

There will be stacks of Roman candles and barrels of red fire, Chinese lanterns by the hundreds and in fact everything that will make the scene one of glowing brilliance. Masks will be provided at low rates, and all wishing to take part in the fun should provide themselves with a costume. Everything will be done that might help the streets to look like a Chinese or Japanese fairland.

A large delegation is expected from Rockford, and plans are being made to entertain them and make arrangements with the railroad to run a special train from this city to Rockford after the carnival is ended. E. V. Putnam and E. C. Johnson are in Rockford today putting up posters and advertising the celebration. They will also find out about how large a delegation will come and if enough can be counted upon they will make arrangements with the railroad companies to run special trains leaving the city after the fun is over in order that all may see the celebration through.

With good weather there is no such a thing as a failure. All the plans for the different features have been carefully figured out.

All young men and boys interested in the bicycle parade or the Fourth of July are requested to meet at the West Side fire station Monday evening, July 2nd, at 8 o'clock. It is necessary that the committee should know about how many will take part in this feature and it is requested that all intending to take part meet the committee at that time and place.

ARRAY OF WHISKERS AT KANSAS CITY

Democrats Make a Showing of Dense Hirsute Foliage—Veritable Whirlpool of Hair.

Kansas City, June 30—Kansas City is like a procession of camels. The humps succeeded one another in rapid and bewildering succession. It may be due to this fact that the whiskers which are floating in from the broad prairies and blowing across the fertile plains to mingle here in what might be called the lambrequin and lilac storm center are more impressive in their almost terrible magnificence than they would be if the sky line were less jagged.

When one is at the top of a Kansas City kopie and looks down he sees a seething vortex of whiskers below him, a whirlpool of hair, in which the tips of men's heads bob like bubbles without purpose or the power of resistance.
But when it is viewed from below that the Niagara of whiskers streaming on the edge of one of these precipices is most appalling.

When one stands at the lower end of a Kansas City street and looks up toward the middle of the block he sees huge waves and flaring streams of whiskers that swirl and break in awful masses as they come down upon him, and involuntarily he feels the Maid of the Mist rocking beneath his feet.

If the democrats who are not gifted with whiskers could have had their way a cooler place might have been made.
But hot weather has no terrors for democrats with whiskers. What if it collapse do refuse to fulfill the purpose to which they were intended? The average delegate to this convention rises superior to the possibility of such a contingency.
He can wear a wilted collar, a soaked collar, or no collar, as he pleases.

A special meeting of the A. O. U. W. will be held at their hall Sunday morning at 2:30 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

CONFERRED THE ROYAL PUR-

Patriarchs of the Rock River Encamp-

Janesville Has the Banner Encampment In the State—Some of Those Present.

At a special meeting held in East Side Odd Fellows' hall last evening. The Patriarchs of Rock River Encampment
No. 3, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, entertained out of town visitors in a royal manner.

The special meeting was called for the purpose of conferring the Royal Purple degree upon five candidates. The degrees work last night was of an order in keeping with the high standard maintained by this lodge in all its work, and that of last evening was pronounced perfect by the visitors.

Janesville has the banner encampment of the state, in fact it is almost a city of Odd Fellows and all are workers in the interest of the order. It will have to be a lodge of hustlers that comes anywhere near the report of work done this lodge when it is sent in today.

After the work of the evening was finished an elaborate supper was served, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present and made a fitting ending for the work of the term.

Those present from out of the city were:

Grand Patriarch William Fisher, Madison.

Fast Grand Representative Oscar
Smith, Whitewater.

Grand High Priest John Fulton, Whitewater.

Patriarchs R. Evenson, J. Linderbaum, Ed. Finch, E. M. Tool, W. Spoon-water.

SMITH CLAIMS HE WAS INTOXICATED

Judge Fifield Sentences Him to County Jail for Thirty Days at Hard Labor.

Henry Smith, the man arrested yesterday by Officer Brown for obtaining goods under false pretenses from the different grocery stores in this city, was brought before Judge Fifield of the Municipal court this morning and pleaded guilty to the charge against him.
Smith said he was sixty years of age and served three years in the 15th Wisconsin during the war of the rebellion.
Since the war he has lived in different parts of the state. He would give no reason for his doings other than he was intoxicated. Smith claims he came here to work on the new railroad line and that he had lost his coat and pension papers. He said this was his first offense and in view of that fact Judge Fi-field sentenced him to thirty days in the county jail at hard labor.

Indian Agents say they know of no

Honestly Opposed to Progress.

The Chinese have no doubt begun to realize the fact that foreigners are determined to exploit their country and also that they are too weak successfully to resist this action, and they are, therefore, reduced to putting obstructions in everybody's way. In doing this most of them are honestly convinced that they are doing their country a service, and if they cannot keep out foreign civilization they should at least delay its entry as long as possible.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF GROCERYMEN

PLANS CONSIDERED AT A MEET-ING HELD LAST NIGHT.

Majority Favored Holding the Outing
At Some Up-River Resort Minority
Want to Take a Trip Out of Town—
Committee Appointed to Decide Upon the Matter.

The grocery men of Janesville held a meeting last evening at the office of the Wholesale Grocery Company. The meeting was called for the purpose of making plans for their annual picnic.
The majority of those present were in favor of holding the picnic at some up-river resort near this city, if favorable arrangements could be made in way of transportation and entertainment.

Others favored some of the out of town resorts on the lines of the railroad.
A committee was appointed to confer with the different railroads and with the steamboat owners to see what could be done in the way of transportation and entertainment at the different resorts both at home and away and to report at the next meeting to be held next week.

The grocery men much prefer to hold their picnic at home, the high rates of transportation asked heretofore has been the cause of holding the picnic away from the home resorts.

chased for the new postoffice building is progressing rapidly. The large two story brick building on the corner of Frankling and Dodge streets, has been torn down and the debris carried away.
It will only be a question of a short time before the entire lot is in shape for the erection of the building. Reports from Washington are not favorable to its erection this year, and in all probability no work will be done other than getting the site in shape before next spring.

Trials of the Match Trust.

It is said that the match trust is adding enormous sums to its profits each year by a very simple expedient. The wood of which the matches are made is cut across the grain or with the grain at such an angle that it will split almost lengthwise on the slightest provocation.

BOER BATTLE AT LINDLEY.

Casualties, Three Killed and Twenty-Three Wounded.

SHEEP AND CATTLE CAPTURED

Lieutenant North is a Prisoner of the Boers—Methuen Drives a Force of Federals Twelve Miles—Details of All-Day Fight.

London, June 30.—Guerrilla operations are reported from half a dozen points in Orange River colony. The war office has received the following from Lord Roberts:

Pretoria, June 30.—The Boers from Lindley that he was engaged on June 26 with a body of the enemy, who were strongly re-enforced during the day. A convoy of stores for the Lindley garrison was also attacked on June 26, but after a heavy rear-guard action, the convoy reached Lindley in safety. Our casualties were ten killed and four officers and about fifty men wounded. The fight reported yesterday was under Lieutenant Colonel Grenfell, not Drepper. Brabant came up during the engagement. Total casualties of the two columns, three killed and twenty-three wounded. On the previous day, near Ficksburg, Boyes' brigade was in action with a body of the enemy. Our casualties were two officers killed, four men wounded, and one man missing. Methuen found yesterday that the Boer laager near Vachkop and Spitzkop had been hastily removed in the direction of Lindley. He followed the enemy twelve miles and captured 8,000 sheep and 500 head of cattle, which the enemy had seized in that neighborhood. Our casualties were four men wounded. Hunter continued his march yesterday toward the Vaal river unopposed. Many farmers along the route have surrendered. Springs, the terminus of the railway from Johannesburg, due east, was attacked early yesterday morning. The Canadian regiment which garrisons the place beat off the enemy. No casualties are reported.

Boer official reports from Machodorp aver that part of a British convoy was captured on June 24 near Winburg. The Lourenco Marques correspondent of the Times says: "Both the burghers and the foreigners who are arriving here profess a strong belief that it will take from three to six months to subdue the Boers."

Another dispatch from Lourenco Marques says: "A consignment to a foreign firm marked 'Dutch Cheese—Damaged,' proved, on landing, to contain army boots for the Boers. It passed the customs, nevertheless, with unusual dispatch, and the British consul is making presentation to the Portuguese government. Lieutenant North, reported missing after the attack on the construction train, is a prisoner of the Boers."

Three Boxing Bouts. New York, June 30.—At the Broadway Athletic club Jimmy Handler of Newark was awarded the decision on a foul over "Mysterious Billy" Smith of New York in the fifteenth round of what was to have been a twenty-five-round bout at 148 pounds. It was a vicious battle, and another punch by either man would have brought it to a conclusion, as both men were wobbling from the effect of right-hand smashes on the jaw.

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 30.—Joe Daly of Atlanta, Ga., was knocked out in the ninth round of what was to have been a twenty-round bout here by Tommy Burke of Fort Wayne.

New Albany, Ind., June 30.—William Mooney of Bloom Hill and Edward Murrell, colored, went twelve terrific rounds at Blackiston's Mills, a resort three miles north of here. The fight ended in the twelfth, when a stiff right sent by Mooney to his opponent's mouth won him the purse.

New Mystery of Hansom Cabs. Philadelphia, Pa., June 30.—Philadelphia has a cab mystery which rivals the celebrated detective story from the pen of Fergus Hume. Miss Anna E. Graham, a handsome young woman, engaged to a wealthy citizen of Pittsburgh, died suddenly in a carriage just as it drew up in front of her parents' residence, 2838 Columbia avenue. Anna went to visit her aunt last Tuesday afternoon and today her mother received a telephone message saying she was ill. She was brought home in the coupe, dying on the way.

Fort Dodge, Iowa, June 30.—An important test case will grow out of an arrest made in Waterloo that will test the law prohibiting the generating of gasoline for lighting purposes. This law has been questioned many times and dealers and merchants have often threatened in various parts of Iowa to make a test case, but until the present instance none has been attempted.

LATE

BEING A PARABLE OF OUR UNCLE SAMUEL.

Recalling the Era of Free Trade, the Slaughter of the Philistines and the Advent of McKinley and Prosperity.

1. Now there had been a great robber Wilson tariff swindle of a darkness which could be felt, and especially by one million wage earners who tramped the streets for work, if haply they might find a job at 50 cents per day that their wives and little ones might not starve.

2. Because, forsooth, bands of Philistines of the sect of free trade had overrun the whole land from Dan to Beersheba and robbed a million wage earners of their harvests of jobs.

3. For the free trade Philistines said one to another, as they squinted knowingly with the right eye, the left eye being tightly closed, let us deprive much common people of work, and let their lots be cast in exceeding unpleasant places, and let lovely duds and beautiful and festive idlers enjoy cheaper foreign fabrics.

4. And when we have the masses in a tight place, and have pulled very much free wool over the farmers' eyes, and the people are sitting at our feet of cheapness, peradventure they may forget their empty dinner pails and their empty stomachs when we give them large quantities of eloquent gab to prove that work and wages are but hush and hum, while cheap foreign goods are really the weightier matters of the law of true prosperity.

5. Thus did the free trade Philistines encourage each other, thinking they had much length of office laid up in store.

6. Albeit the mighty men of Israel of the sect of the protectionists rose up and put themselves on their political muscle, and they smote the Philistine free traders and there was a great slaughter from Dan even unto the borders of Beersheba, as a man might travel from Dan even unto the coasts of the Pacific.

7. And when Cleveland of aherodopolis fame had left Jerusalem and his henchman, "Adonias Wilson," had cast his garments about him and departed, then did William, who is called McKinley, the son of prosperity, rule in his stead over the whole land, which being interpreted signifieth the United States of America.

8. And straightway the sons of Belial mocked, saying, Where is the prosperity that ye promised us? Yea, verily, we have waited more than six weeks, nevertheless, all the works have not started up yet.

9. And they deceived many, robbing people wist not how the robber Wilson tariff had so depressed business that it would require months of time to dig ourselves out of the mud and mire in which the free trade Philistines had stuck the nation and stranded the glorious old ship of state.

10. However, a due time protection and prosperity were triumphant. And the wheels revolved, and the boiler fires blazed, machinery hummed, smoke issued from great chimneys, everybody could get work, wages were raised, and grand and glorious prosperity, such as the earth never before witnessed, flooded the whole land with rivers of glory.

11. Then resound the free trade Philistines and the prelates and calamity howlers, saying, Save us anyway or we perish.

The circulation secured by lawful money amounted to $37,300,772, an increase for the year of $1,041,172 and a decrease for the month of $1,811,892. The amount of United States registered bonds on deposit to secure circulating notes was $56,820,000 and to secure public deposits, $92,853,580.

The Home Market.

Since 1870 the population of the United States has increased 100 per cent and the production of cotton 300 per cent. With 200 per cent more increase in production than in population the decrease in price has been less than 100 per cent, and the quantity used by American mills has increased 300 per cent. This indicates the growth and value of the home market.

ABOUT WOMANKIND.

What She Is Doing in Various Fields of Activity.

Among the women who have gone to Cuba to help in the work of reorganization is Mrs. Alice Campbell Chism.

She is admirably equipped for the business. Mrs. Chism is an active member of the Professional Woman's League of New York, and recently completed a course at the Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, which she took in order to perfect herself in some useful and practical lines of industry which she will teach to young Cuban women.

Milinery, dressmaking, manufacturing and hairdressing are some of the things she will teach, for she expects her pupils to become self supporting.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cobb Avis is the only real daughter of the American Revolution in St. Louis. Her father was a soldier in General Knox's command. He served at Bunker Hill and Valley Forge. Mrs. Avis is now 80 years old. The whole south is justified in being proud of the editor of The Southern Home Journal. Miss Ida May has inherited her literary ability from a long line of brainy folk. From a small local paper The Southern Home Journal under her management has outgrown the borders of its own state and is now a welcome paper in homes throughout the south.

The daughter of Tom Reed is now a full fledged lawyer, with the chancellor's certificate of the woman's law class of the University of New York. She expects to practice in her father's office.

A noteworthy family of lawyers resides in Milwaukee. Mrs. Kate Pier and her three daughters have all been graduated from the same college and, remarkable to relate, practice their profession in the same office.

Lafayette, Ind., is the proud claimant of a remarkable young girl. Until recently Miss Sonia Wright was acquainted with the use of firearms, but a few weeks ago she had a chance to learn the use of them, and she has decided to make the most of it. The first shot fired struck the bullseye. Naturally it was supposed to have been a lucky shot, but it only served to show that the young lady had a talent of which she was not aware, for at the second lesson she put 20 out of a possible 22 shots in a space one inch long and half an inch wide at offhand target practice, ten yards distance. Miss Wright is an expert with the rifle as it is possible for a woman to be.

Mrs. William Todd Helmut of New York, who has been mentioned for the presidency of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is not only the president of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs, but is several times ex-president of Sorosis and an honorary member of 27 clubs.

The women of Stanford university have won a victory for the good element. Miss M. E. McDougald has had the highest literary honor paid her by being elected to edit The College Annual. Before entering the university Miss McDougald had been doing newspaper work on the San Francisco Chronicle, and since then she has been writing for the college paper.

One of the Japanese students at Yale still clings to her native kimono and the other artistic features of her native costume. Miss Yoshi Yamaguchi is studying music so that she may return to her own country and teach the children there the beauties of music as we know them.

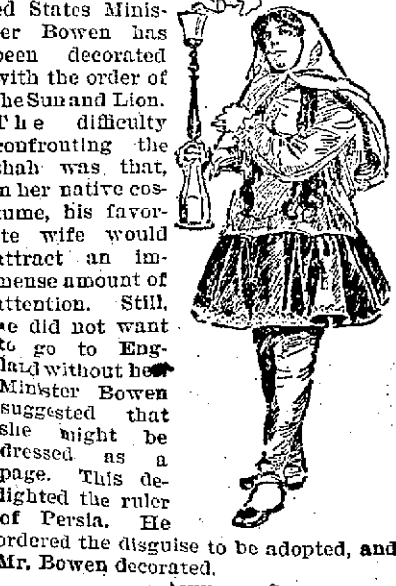

The Princess Sada Kajo, named as the bride of the prince imperial of Japan, has a genealogical tree dating back to A. D. 650.

In the presence of professors, advanced students and friends Miss Jessica Blanche Polkotto of San Francisco successfully passed her final examination for the degree of doctor of philosophy at Berkeley recently. This honor the University of California has conferred but 13 times in 36 years and but once before on a woman.

A school for women librarians has been opened in Berlin providing two courses of instruction, one of six months for ordinary public library work, and another, which has reference to scientific libraries, extends over three years.

Because he suggested a way in which the shah of Persia might take his favorite wife with him on his trip to England, United States Minister Bowen has been decorated with the order of the Sun and Lion. The difficulty confronting the shah was that, in her native costume, his favorite wife would attract an immense amount of attention. Still, he did not want to go to England without his Minister Bowen suggested that she might be dressed as a page. This delighted the ruler of Persia. He ordered the disguise to be adopted, and Mr. Bowen decorated.
